Glee Club Travels To Westerly

Attractive Program Arranged for March 5th

Once more the Glee Club ventures forth from Kingston to give a public concert for, on Friday, March 5, this organization travels to the Town Hall at Westerly.

The club has been fortunate in that few members have been forced to leave college by failure to pass examinations. Numerous rehearsals have developed the singing of the chorus to such an extent that the citizens of Westerly are assured a musical treat.

Don R. Kinzie, manager, has tentatively outlined the program as follows:

1. "Border Ballad" and "The Clock" By the Chorus
2. A selection by the quartet whose members are: E. R. Osbourne, G. E. Spargo, E. P. Christopher and D. R. Kinzie.
3. An impersonation by R. C. Holt and H. N. Armbrust
4. Tenor Solo by E. R. Osbourne.
5. Reading by G. E. Spargo.
6. Instrumental numbers by R. Asdikian, banjo and kazoo; A. E. Peterson, banjo-uke, and D. B. Brown, uke.
7. Baritone solo, E. P. Christopher.
8. "The Jolly Blacksmith" and "Doan Yo Cry, Ma Honey" by the chorus
9. Bass Solo by D. R. Kinzie.
10. A selection by the quartet.
11. "The Bells of St. Mary's" and college songs by the chorus.

Maine Loses to Varsity Club, 38-33

For Third Consecutive Time in Three Years R. I. Humbles Pine Tree Staters in a Well Played Game

In one of the fastest games seen in Lippitt Hall this year, Rhode Island was able to continue her string of victories when the basketball team sent the University of Maine's quintet home with a 38-33 defeat hanging over their heads. The game was a battle from start to finish. The Kingston five took the lead at the start, but at no time during the game could they get more than six points ahead, which fact kept the rooters on the edges of their chairs and at the tops of their lungs from the first whistle to the last.

Rhode Island put up a fine defense, but Maine brought along some long-shot artists who managed to tie the score more than once. Barber and Mulcahy, the two guards whom Coach Keaney has developed, showed a lot of improvement, Mulcahy dropping two baskets. Bosworth did most of the scoring, proving very accurate on under-the-basket shots and Jensen showed fine floorwork, repeatedly tore up the floor to drop a pretty basket. Haire played his usual airtight game.

Rhode Island Upsets Conn. Aggies in Battling Game By a 33-24 Score

"Rhody's" Fighting Five Comes Through; Game Exciting Throughout, Marred by Unnecessary Roughness of Visitors

In a hard fought, exciting game, the "new" Varsity basketball team defeated the crack Connecticut five, 33-24. The game was the last of the three matches played on the local court, Saturday, Feb. 27, which ended very favorably for "Rhody."

Our boys completely outclassed their rivals in every department of the game and during the second half were playing rings around their opponents. Connecticut resorted to rough tactics and were caught time and time again by the officials.

The locals obtained an early lead due to the fine shooting of "Red" Haire. It seemed as if "Red" could not miss them. He was all over the floor and was continually troubling the Connecticut guards. Jensen and Bosworth also contributed some spectacular shots during this half and Rhody's score swelled to 22, while Connecticut's score was held to 9. This was due to the excellent guarding of Barber and Mulcahy.

Just before the end of the first half, Mulcahy was put out of the game on account of four personal fouls and Negus was substituted for him. Makofski, the Connecticut captain, starred for the Aggies during this half.

At the beginning of the second half Connecticut showed a reversal of form and displayed a better brand of basketball. The shooting of Makofski and Schofield and the guarding of Allard featured Connecticut's sport during this half. However, the lead which the locals had piled up was too large for our rivals to overcome.

In attempting to stage a comeback, Connecticut employed many unfair tactics and were continually being penalized by the officials.

For Connecticut, Makofski, Schofield and Allard starred, while Haire's shooting ability was an outstanding feature. However, everyone on the team deserves special credit for performing in such a manner as they did.

March 6 Rhode Island will journey to Connecticut when the respective teams will clash again.

Conn. Co-eds Go Down in a 32-19 Defeat By Locals

Rhody Co-eds Weak in Team Work; "Gin" Broome and Olive Allebaugh High Scorers for Our Girls.

Lippitt Hall on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 27, was the scene of one of the annual battles between Connecticut Aggie girls and R. I. Co-Eds for supremacy on the basketball court. The orange and black uniforms worn by the visitors made a pleasing combination with the plain black and white of our girls. The Connecticut team of this year is, without doubt, superior to their teams of previous years. They played an excellent game and had a slight advantage in having participated in several intercollegiate contests previously. The game was very interesting thruout and though the visitors scored the first basket, the local girls kept the lead and finally attained a score of 32-19. The team-work of the Connecticut girls was fine; the two guards doing

Rifle Team Is Defeated By Conn. Gunmen

Conn. Aggie Shooters Win by a 34-Point Lead

The Rhode Island State College Rifle team was defeated Saturday by the Connecticut Rifle Team in their annual match at the rifle range in East Hall. The shooting was extremely close throughout, and it was only in the last few stages of the match that Connecticut began to forge ahead.

The outcome of the meet was uncertain until the last man had shot, when it was found that Connecticut had won the shooting tournament by the close margin of 34 points, the final score being Connecticut 1722, Rhode Island State 1688.

Lynch of Connecticut was high man of the match, getting first place with the score of 360 out of a possible 400 points. E. K. Johnson, captain of the R. I. Club, came second with but 3 points difference, getting a total of 357 in his four positions. The final results in the shooting were as follows: E. K. Johnson, 357; Marchand 345; Leigh 336; Harrington 328, and Paul Johnson 321.

Both colleges were represented by five-man teams. The shooting was in charge of Captains Hammond and Carter, assisted by Sergeants Friel and Prime.

Freshmen Defeat C. A. C. '29, 43-24

Yearlings Defeat Beginners in a Runaway Game; Herwitz's Shots Thrill Crowd

The State College Freshmen decisively defeated the Connecticut Agricultural College yearlings, by a 43-24 score, in the second of the three basketball games played Feb. 27 in the Lippitt Hall courts.

The game started slowly, both teams feeling each other out. One minute of play elapsed when Dahl, for Aggies, dropped in a foul. Elloritch followed up with neat basket from the floor. Hurwitz started the local scoring with a long Tom. He added a foul and tied the score with three minutes to go in the first quarter, the better part of the time was used in defensive play by both teams. Rhode Island finally shook off the jinx, Trumbull and Hurwitz shot in two baskets, succeeded by Epstein's shot on a technical before the quarter ended.

In the second quarter the locals started on a rampage, led by Hurwitz whose shots from beyond the double lines thrilled the gallery. The game was waxing fast and it seemed as though the Connecticut boys spent most of their time running back on defense. Torling replaced Schildgen for Connecticut, who sprained his ankle. Connelly replaced Magoun at center for the locals. The game was played at a breakneck pace. At the Club Open to All Interested in C. E.; Spargo President of New Organization

Last Thursday evening, Feb. 25th, the members of the various Civil Engineering Classes united in forming what is to be known as the "Civil Engineering Society of R. I. State College." This is a step worthy of attention because its purpose is to foster interest among students in subjects concerning Civil Engineering—not only for those taking this subject, but among all students of every course. The doors of this club are always open, and its membership is extended to all students who are interested in this line of work.

Professor Webster of the Civil Engineering Department is advisor for the Society, and promises some interesting programs in the form of lectures in the near future. At the opening meeting of the club the following officers were elected:

Revisions

On February 24th the executive committee of The Beacon held a meeting with the purpose of revising the present constitution. The reason that this committee was prompted to act upon this matter, was the fact that there had been insufficient rulings in this constitution regarding the eligibility to membership in the editorial and business departments.

Prior to this revision the constitution has been ineffective in coping with unusual circumstances. Therefore, this change has taken place with the object of eliminating such difficulties.

The following are articles of the constitution which have undergone this change:

ARTICLE V

Rules Governing Eligibility

Section 4.—To be eligible to membership in the editorial department, the candidates shall be members of the Junior or Sophomore class, preferably the Junior class, and shall previously have served at least twenty-seven weeks on the Association Department.

ARTICLE VI

Methods of Election to Board of Editors

Section 2.—(Election to membership in the News Department). At the beginning of each semester a competition of at least seven weeks' duration for membership in the News Department shall be held open to the entire student body. * * * *

Section 3.—(Election to Membership in the Associate Department). At the beginning of the fiscal year the Editorial Department together with the Associate Department of the previous year shall elect not more than six members to constitute the Associate Department.

ARTICLE IX

Rules Governing Election to Board of Managers

Section 2.—The Associate Department shall be members of the Junior or Sophomore class, preferably the Junior class, who shall have previously served at least one year in the Office Department. They shall be elected by the Business Manager together with the Associate Department of the previous year.

Section 4.—Vacancies in any of these offices shall be filled by special elections held by the Business Manager.

ARTICLE XI

Executive Committee

Section 2.—(Election of Faculty Advisor.) This member of the committee shall be elected each year, during the first week in March, by a plurality vote of the Board of Editors together with the Board of Managers.

ARTICLE XVIII

Amendments

Section 1.—This constitution may be amended or revised by a two-thirds vote of the student body at a suitable assembly exercise when the said amendment or revision has been presented by a member of the executive committee, the alteration having been printed in The Beacon at least two weeks previous to the time of voting.

ARTICLE XIX

The members of the executive committee shall be given upon their retirement period of five years' subscription to The Beacon.

A TRIBUTE TO THE COACH

Those who saw the three defeats handed to the Connecticut quintets recently, will never quite forget the remarkable co-operation displayed among the players in completely vanquishing our old time rivals. Throughout the entire three contests, the Keaney-coached quintets played a type of basketball which was most spectacular and unexpected. Amid cheers and applause they swept valiantly on to victory.

When the timer blew his horn and the affray was ended, there followed a tumultuous moment of shrieks, whistles and hurrahs. Now ensued a mad scrambling and jostling of spectators to congratulate the players. There were merry handclaps and violent shakings. It had all been too wonderful! A remade varsity team coming thru so honorably and in such a commendable manner—something unprecedented.

Yes, it was truly an excellent climax. But, after the last play was completed and "Keaney's Dogs" were hiking to the showers, someone propitiously remarked at my elbow, "Keaney's made them what they are." It's true! There is no delusion concerning the fact. There came a picture to my mind of the coach's club in action.

Of "Dick" Barber and Tommy Mulcahy fighting against odds; "Pickles" Hammett, with his characteristic pep, dashing here and there undaunted; "Red" Haire, a towering mass, caging basket after basket with indefatigable sureness; "Chet" Jensen, with incredible swiftness and calmness, passing the ball up and down the floor; and of "Kippie" Bosworth, with his seven league strides, as jumping center. From a delinquent and defectively functioning team, Coach Keaney has resurrected a team unbeatable in its attitude. Not a team of stars, all playing individually to the grandstand, but an aggregation of American youths drained of its sediment fighting, thru close observance of training rules, for fair play and Frank "American" Keaney.

AN "IF" FOR "EDS"

(With apologies to a few)

—If, at Saturday night dances, the Eds on the campus should act like real college men, rather than imitation collegiates—

—If, when greeted politely by a Co-Ed, they should give some form of response, rather than remaining mute—

—If they should ever allow a Co-Ed precedence in obtaining jitneys Sunday night, rather than comfortably accommodating themselves first—

—If they should stop making a Co-Ed feel rather unnecessary when in a classroom composed almost entirely of men—

—If they should, in other words, acquire even a degree of sophistication, then this college would, in one sense of the word, become a university—advancing a step in the scale of evolution.

A Letter

Dear Algernon:

Topping weather, what? Fancy, I got a letter from the jolly coach bawling me out—and I only cut P. T. fifty-one times. Really!

Yesterday I went in to see the dear old chap but he was busy training our championship hockey and swimming teams. Imagine! So I went into his office, put my feet on his desk, and lit up one of his pet stogies.

Pretty soon the coach came in. Nice old bird, really. But I felt that I must nip his impudence right in the bud.

I put on my toughest expression. "Well?" I asked, most vociferously, "well?"

"Jones, er—er—Mister Jones," the coach stuttered, standing first on one foot and then on the other, "Mister Jones—er—won't you—er—attend a P. T. class—er—now and then, just as a matter of form, don't you know."

Really, I pitied the old boy as he stood there, in the doorway, pulling his hair obsequiously—but I must be firm.

"Get out," I shouted.

"Yes, sir—very good, sir," and the coach doubtless went as I directed.

I never saw anyone so put out in all my life. Fancy that!

Hoping you are the same, I am, etc.

Oswald Jones.

CHI O TEA

On Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 23, the members of Lambda Beta of Chi Omega were hostesses at a tea given in honor of Miss Helen E. Peck, our acting dean of women. The chapter rooms were a delightful background for the merry tea drinkers who gathered there before the fire.

Miss Taylor poured at a tea table, charmingly decorated with flowers which were appropriate for the occasion. Among the guests present were Mrs. Peck, the women faculty and the patronesses of the chapter.

Virginia T. Broome, '28, was chairman of the committee in charge of the affair.

Most every fellow carries or should carry a little book with all the girls' names and addresses of whom he knows in it. But one finds it so hard to classify them, doesn't one? We have prepared a set of curves which gives you all the information at a glance. One curve pertains to brunettes, the other to blondes.

The first curve on the chart has ages plotted as abscissal and per cent congeniality per dollar per degree F as ordinates. Hence all you have to do is to remember the girl's age, then looks at the corresponding point on the curve and read off per cent congeniality per dollar per degree F.

The other curve on the chart has the same ordinates but as abscissal it has degree of necking per highball per chicken salad.

The idea is that no matter what mood you are in and you want a date, you can find the right girl with the least amount of time expenditure.

Incidentally, the above curves are based on years of experience.—Ex.

Love is misery, sweetened with imagination, salted with tears, spiced with doubt, flavored with novelty and swallowed with your eyes shut. Love is like appendicitis: you never know when nor how it is going to strike you—the only difference being that, after one attack of appendicitis your curiosity is perfectly satisfied.

True love is nothing but friendship, highly intensified, flavored with sentiment, spiced with passion and sprinkled with the steudust of romance.

Falling in love consists merely in uncorking the imagination and battling the conscious sense. Love is woman's eternal spring and man's eternal fall. It is a game at which men must play against stacked cards, and without the slightest inkling of the trump.

Northeastern First Victim in Series of Basketball Wins

'Varsity Makes Splendid Come-back; Battling Fine, Earns Well-Deserved and Appreciative Applause

Rhode Island State evened up matters with Northeastern University by defeating them in an exciting game. The game was played in Lippitt Hall on Tuesday, Feb. 23. The final score was R. I. State 43; Northeastern University 31.

Northeastern came down to Kingston with the idea of copping both games of the series. But Coach Keaney's reconstructed squad has been playing sensational ball lately and the Boston team found some unexpected competition, as the score indicates.

R. I. State started the game with Haire and Jensen, forwards, Bosworth, center, and Barber and Mulcahey, guards. As they have done in most games up to date, the college boys jumped into the lead with a fancy exhibition of passes and shot. "Red" Haire and "Kippy" Bosworth had their eyes open on that night and the State score began to rise. Jensen did some flashy work in his position, while Barber and Mulcahey held down their men well. It was a smooth-working squad that represented Rhode Island.

Northeastern began to pep up a little towards the end of the half, but at all times the college boys held their lead. The score at the half was R. I. State 24, Northeastern 11.

The second half was a continuation of the first part of the game; our boys held down the visitors with ease.

Renker and Simms of Northeastern showed up well and scored most of their team's points during this half. But the lead that R. I. State had could not be overcome and the game went in our favor. For Rhode Island, Haire was the high pointer with six baskets from the floor, while Bosworth and Jensen drew their share of shots. Coach Keaney gave his reserve men a chance in the last half, Hammett, Negus, Murphy, Draghetti and Blake being put into the fray. "Pickles" Hammett went into the game like a whirlwind, but he made four personal in about as many minutes, so was out of the battle soon.

Aggie Club Meeting

Wednesday, Feb. 24, the Aggie Club held the first meeting it has held in a long time. President Smith called the meeting to order at 7:30 P. M. Mr. George Marsh was the speaker of the evening. He gave a very interesting talk, "The Hudson Bay Lands and the Lands of Labrador." He told of numerous experiences encountered while traveling through these lands. At the conclusion of this informal talk, eats were served, while the boys questioned Mr. Marsh. After the eats, Mr. Marsh and the gang smoked through numerous topics of the north.

Freshman Class Meeting

The Freshmen held their second class meeting of the year, Wednesday, Feb. 24, at 8 P. M. in Lippitt

Hall. The usual chaotic scenes ensued resulting in broken furniture and windows.

The first business brought up by the president was the election of a permanent president. Messrs. McKenzie, Fleming, Trumbull and Fitts were nominated; Fitts was elected.

At this time Mr. Hiller explained that it has been the custom for each class to print an issue of The Beacon. The class voted unanimously to follow the custom and gave the president power to appoint a committee of 25.

The defeated candidates for president were elected a committee to purchase a class banner. The class dues were made three dollars a year. The president was given power to appoint a banquet committee of five.

The World's Loudest Voice

On the rolling plains of South Schenectady, in several scattered buildings, is a vast laboratory for studying radio broadcasting problems. Gathered here are many kinds and sizes of transmitters, from the short-wave and low-power sets to the giant super-power unit with a 50- to 250-kilowatt voice.

Super-power and simultaneous broadcasting on several wave lengths from the same station are among the startling later-day developments in radio. And even with hundreds of broadcasting stations daily on the air throughout the land, these latest developments stand for still better service to millions of listeners.

Only five years old, yet radio broadcasting has developed from a laboratory experiment into a mighty industry. And alert, keen young men have reaped the rewards.

But history repeats itself. Other electrical developments will continue to appear. And it will be the college man, with broad vision and trained mind, who will be ready to serve and succeed.

From the studio of WGY in Schenectady, six miles from the developmental station, there may be controlled a great number of transmitters, one of which is the first super-power transmitter in the world.

WGY, together with its associates, KOA of Denver and KGO of Oakland, is the General Electric Company's assurance to the American public that radio broadcasting shall be maintained upon the highest standards.

Locals Trounce Terriers for First Time in Two Seasons; Take Last Basketball Fray by 41-25 Score; Re-organized Team Stands the Acid Test

The Rhode Island varsity basketball team won a hard fought game at the local gymnasium recently, from the B. U. quintet by a 41-28 score. Our varsity showed a reversal in form and beat the Terrier outfit which had defeated the R. I. team earlier in the season.

The game started off at a fast pace and before the visitors realized what was taking place the locals had scored four field goals in rapid succession, mainly through the efforts of Bosworth and Haire. The Terriers managed to score a few baskets, but "Rhody" maintained to keep the lead throughout the first half. The score at the end of the half was 23-16 in favor of the locals.

During the first half, the defensive work of Mulcahy and Barber featured.

The second half started off at a fast pace, which the locals set, and the B. U. boys were unable to stop it. Bosworth and Haire went wild on their shooting, each shooting three baskets apiece. Cohen and Horton starred for the visitors during this half, each scoring three baskets.

During the half there were several substitutions made on account of personal fouls. Hammett was substituted for Mulcahy who had played a remarkable game, and for the visitors Lucinsky was substituted for Captain Leonard.

Haire was high scorer of the contest, scoring 16 points, while Bosworth followed with 15 points. Jensen also contributed some spectacular shots. For the visitors, Cohen and Horton were the shining lights.

A word might be said as to the behavior of the crowd in regard to the referee's decision. The officials have been "ridden" too often and a decided change should be noticeable in the near future.

exceptionally good work. While our Co-Eds won the game by a good score, the team work was noticeably weak and the girls did not play up to form. Eric: "I feel like a piano."
Taft: "Upright?"
Eric: "No, baby, grand."

A modern miss is good for a mile; than if the gas holds out, she often doesn't.

Tap: "I didn't work the old stall again this vacation."
Dance: "Whazat?"
Tap: "Well, I held my quarterly report until Xmas vacation and I sailed clean for the first week. I put a 'not to be opened until Christmas' on that and the Dean's letter."

Jimmy: "I see there isn't any bank in Kingston now, is there?"
Pug: "You're wrong. Lookit the snow banks."
Co-ed: "You may kiss my hand."
Val: "I like your cheek."

The Track Forecast

Rhode Island State is facing the coming track season with the best team material in several years. The men have been kept in trim all winter by Coach Tootell, who has had the squad out on every day the weather permitted. Consequently this spring the squad is in much better condition than in former years.

The "Frosh" class of last year also brought along some valuable material for the team: "Speed" Randall in the quarter and half miles, Talbot in the hundred and the broad and high jump, Benny Fine in the mile and two miles, Lou Dring in the mile and two miles, "Pickles" Hammett in the mile, Foster in the low and high hurdles and Richardson in the pole vault.

Bob Strong will probably lead the squad in the two-mile with Benny Fine and Dring close on his heels, as they both have done fine work in cross-country. Bob may also run in the mile. Hammett specializes in this event, however, and can be depended upon to grab first place nearly every time. Fine and Dring will also be in this event. Half-milers are scarce, with only Randall and Clegg in the running, although this pair will probably get the first two places in this event and the quarter-mile against any but the best competition. Orr is scheduled to run his stuff in the next event and the quarter-mile against twenty dash. In the hundred Talbot is a sure-fire man, with the rest of the dash men still to be picked.

In the weights some good men have been developed during the winter, including Gannon, Bruce and Cleary.

This year the State is meeting Northeastern, Trinity, Connecticut, and is competing at the Inter-collegiates.

Auto Salesman: "Could I interest you in an auto?"
She: "Perhaps you could; come around in one sometime."

Millman: "Yes, my face is my fortune."
Nat: "You're lucky; you don't have to pay an income tax."

A ball hit Sutton on the head and looking surprised he said: "Those darn horse flies are bothering us already."

FRESHMEN DEFEAT C. A. C. '29-43-24

end of the half the score was 19-6 in the local favor.

In the second stanza the "frosh" rapidly increased the score by an exhibition of basketball passing and shooting that was beautiful to watch. Hurwitz featured with long shots when the moments of the game appeared to show no one to pass to.

In the last quarter there appeared to be a little discrepancy in the local team. The boys fought hard but did not team together, and the Nutmeggers ran up a score that took the sting out of the defeat.
